

Julie Henszey

October 13, 2017 · 🌐

I'm so tired of white male entitlement, of women suffering sexual violence, of children and those in poverty having powerful white men take away the safety nets. I'm tired of wealthy white, "Christian" men saying that healthcare is a privilege. I'm tired of Milwaukee's high rate of Black incarceration and of predatory lending that primarily hurt minority families. Invisible power dynamics affect all of us. I'm tired of people defending a disgusting man who is our president. I'm tired of waking up every day feeling like we live in a very dark time. We have forgotten we are all part of the same family. I believe we are on this earth to help each other, not declare war on the weaker segments of society. Women, children, minorities, and people in poverty are the weaker segments. I stand with them. *** And to the white men who DO support these segments THANK YOU!