Subject: belling grandbabies?

Hi,

I first remember listening to you around the age of 10 when my dad would pick me up from school (he is one of those liberals that listen quite religiously). This would qualify me as a "belling baby" . Now I have 2 kids of my own and every time they are in a car with me I have your pod cast on. I guess this would make them "belling grand babies". This came to mind when you were talking about your young dentist the other day. I never heard you use that term before. If its up to your standards you are welcome to steal the phase.

Congrats on your many years of success. Being in an entire family of liberal teachers, I don't believe I would have become to conservative today without exposure to your show. Hope to listen to you for many years to come with my 2 daughters.
