

From: Drake Hall <jlegiste@uwlax.edu>
Date: Thu, Oct 1, 2015 at 10:48 AM
Subject: So About That Last Email...

Lets Talk About It

Hey Drake,

Wassup?

I recognize that the most recent email I sent out to the building was very polarizing. Some viewed it as a helpful and an honest conversation on a topic that rarely gets discussed. Others see it as offensive, creepy and that it was not my place( as the hall director) to send it in the first place. I want to validate all those feelings.

So Lets talk about it

Next Wednesday, October 7th @ 7pm in the basement, we will be holding a building forum on the email.

Additionally, I am open to meeting with you on an individual basis if you can't make the meeting or would just like to talk with me about it. But please engage in conversation your fellow Drakers. This can be a great learning moment for all of us.

The one request I have for all of you is to understand why you feel the way you feel. If you support the email, what about do you connect with? If you don't support the email, what is at the core of those feelings?

I sent out the email because I believe the lack of conversation on the female orgasm is a symptom patriarchy. I believe in gender equity. I believe in open communication about taboo topics. Lets Talk About It

- Jude